

Women in World War II

The Hiram Halle Memorial Library will present a panel discussion about the war experiences of women in our community who lived through World War II as participants or volunteers, or as children caught up in the horrors of that war as part of the civilian populations of Britain and Holland.

As we honor our war veterans on Veterans Day, we should not forget the women who served or suffered along with our soldiers, whose memories are being collected and broadcast in the Ken Burns war documentary, now being aired on television.

The panel will include Betsy Boone, Josina van der Maas, Margaret Monkman, Ruth Newell, and Evelyn Olsen. The Library Director will be the moderator.
